

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Can we raise enough money to accomplish this project?

To build the new gymnasium as planned, we estimate that we need to raise $3.5 million in our campaign. If the campaign falls short of this goal, we will proceed by phasing the work to match the funds raised. This project is crucial to the future of Redeemer Lutheran School, so we are prepared to initially forgo some features until they can be funded. The extent to which we can complete the entire project depends on the level of support the campaign receives.

Who is being asked to give to the campaign?

Every family in our school, friends, and supporters of Christian education in our community and any alumni for whom we have contact information will be invited to participate in the campaign. Everyone will be asked to consider a three-year commitment. While we know the bulk of the funds raised for the campaign will come from individual donors, we are also approaching foundations and corporations to seek their support.

How will this project impact my child's tuition?

Parents need not worry about tuition increases due to the construction of a gym at Redeemer Lutheran School. Funding for this project will be sourced from a capital campaign, not tuition fees, ensuring that current tuition rates remain competitive and accessible. While there may be operational costs associated with the new facility, the school's commitment to financial stewardship and strategic planning aims to minimize any impact on tuition. Moreover, the gym's potential to enhance the school's offerings could attract more students, further supporting financial stability without burdening families with increased costs.

What's the projection for long-term maintenance, and how will it be funded?

It is reasonable to expect that a newer facility will be more energy-efficient and require less maintenance than current structures. To keep current facilities maintained, $250,000 of what we already have in reserve will be saved for ongoing maintenance, regardless of how much we raise in the campaign.

How does the board of directors plan to ensure the ongoing, future success of Redeemer Lutheran School?

Redeemer Lutheran School is blessed to have a strong leadership team comprising board members, administration, and faculty. This leadership is committed to maintaining the school's successful trajectory and preserving its vitality and effectiveness. With steadfast dedication to our mission, strong community support, and the grace of God, we are confident in sustaining Redeemer's excellence and impact for years to come.
